Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this subject, students should be able to:

1. organise, summarise and graph data appropriately;
2. apply probability and risk measures to solve business decision making problems;
3. formulate economic and financial hypotheses into statistically testable forms and carry out tests of hypotheses accordingly;
4. derive confidence intervals for unknown population parameters
5. identify the underlying assumptions associated with each statistical technique; be able to carry out the technique and interpret the results
6. employ appropriate statistical methods and techniques for statistical analysis and forecasting;
7. use one or more statistical analysis packages.

Subject Content

Data presentation, descriptive statistics and index numbers
 Probability, probability distributions and decision analysis
 Sampling distributions
 Statistical inferences -estimation
 Statistical inferences - hypothesis testing
 Linear regression and correlation analysis
 Analysis of categorical data
