The dateline is available at:

<http://www.uws.edu.au/students/stuadmin/dateline>.

Unit outlines

Brief outlines of all UWS undergraduate units listed in the course section are given in the second half of this electronic handbook.

The unit outlines give a brief overview of each unit. For some units this information is not available. Please check the UWS website for more recent information. For more information – details of textbooks, assessment methods, tutorial, group work and practical requirements – contact the unit coordinator.

More information on unit offerings can be found at:

http://handbook.uws.edu.au/hbook/UNIT\_SEARCH.ASP.

Prerequisites, co-requisites and assumed knowledge

Students wishing to enrol in a unit for which they do not have the prerequisites or assumed knowledge are advised to discuss their proposed enrolment with an academic adviser.

Where it is necessary to limit the number of students who can enrol in a unit through shortage of space, equipment, library resources, and so on, or to meet safety requirements, preference will be given to students who have completed the unit recommended sequence in the course.

Academic credit

In most courses, academic credit will be granted for previous studies. For example, UWS has a number of agreements with TAFE to grant credit for successfully completed TAFE studies. Seek advice about credit prior to, or at enrolment.

Electives and cross-discipline study

Electives are available in many courses. These may be selected from pools of electives listed under various courses.

Also, UWS actively encourages students to take elective units in disciplines other than their major area of study. Students should seek advice from their course coordinator in the first instance.

Through study of the political thought and social, political and cultural history of Australian, Asian and European societies, students gain knowledge and critical skills relevant to a variety of careers in education, government and non-governmental organizations. Study of the writings of political thinkers from ancient Greece and Rome, such as Plato and Cicero, and the early modern period, such as Hobbes and Machiavelli, to noted 19th century figures, such as Hegel and Marx, prepare students to engage with contemporary issues of governance, such as sovereignty, power, opportunity, property, civic freedom and social justice.

Preparation for graduate study is also a key objective of this program, with its focus on developing critical and interdisciplinary research skills through a combination of approaches. Students are encouraged to undertake a sub-major in Arabic to complement the Islamic Studies major.

SM1041.1

Since the revival of humanist studies in Renaissance Europe in the 15th century, universities have placed history and political thought at the heart of studies in the humanities. Through study of the political thought and social, political and cultural history of Australian, Asian and European societies, students gain knowledge and critical skills relevant to a variety of careers in education, government and non-governmental organizations. Study of the writings of political thinkers from ancient Greece and Rome, such as Plato and Cicero, and the early modern period, such as Hobbes and Machiavelli, to noted 19th century figures, such as Hegel and Marx, prepare students to engage with contemporary issues of governance, such as sovereignty, power, opportunity, property, civic freedom and social justice.

Bachelor of Arts (Honours) Psychology

1504.4

Students should follow the course structure for the course version relevant to the year they commenced. This version applies to students whose commencement year for this course is 2012 or later.

The Honours year in psychology is a separate award which permits UWS and other psychology graduates to take a challenging fourth-year of undergraduate study by coursework and research. Students from all undergraduate UWS psychology degrees with an AAM of 65 or greater are able to apply for admission into this one year, 80 credit point, HECS-based Honours program.

The Honours year comprises a one-semester unit in psychological assessment and intervention, a one-semester contemporary issues seminar, a yearlong research methods seminar, and a yearlong major research thesis. The award is offered on Bankstown Campus. For those students who meet entry requirements, this award provides an accredited fourth-year of study enabling registration as a provisional psychologist with the Psychology Board of Australia.

Study Mode

Accreditation

This course provides an accredited fourth year of study enabling provisional registration as a Psychologist by the Psychology Board of Australia and associate membership of the Australian Psychological Society (APS). On completion of a further two years of Board-approved internship (i.e., supervised practice) the intern Psychologist will be eligible for general registration and for membership of the Society. Alternatively, graduates with an accredited four-year program in Psychology, who meet entry criteria, can apply for entry into a fifth year postgraduate program leading to general registration after only one-year of internship; or Masters or Doctoral degrees leading to specialist registration (e.g. Endorsement as a Clinical Psychologist). Endorsements also require periods of supervised practice (two years following a Masters degree and one year following a Doctoral degree).

Admission

The major purpose of this award is to permit holders of an Undergraduate degree with an APAC accredited sequence in psychology to have an opportunity to complete an accredited fourth year sequence. Applications can only be made by students with an Admission Average Mark (AAM) equal to or above 65. Admission to the award is competitive, and is based on the School's ranking of the applicant's suitability for Honours.

The School is skilled at evaluating student transcripts. However, the onus will be on applicants with irregular studies to prove they have an accredited three year psychology major in their undergraduate degree to gain admission to the program and would typically be required to produce a letter from their Head of School to this effect.

This is a highly competitive award. There is no provision for deferring an offer of a place.

Course Structure

Qualification for this award requires the successful completion of 80 credit points comprising an Honours thesis (40 credit points); Contemporary Issues Seminar 1 (10 credit points), Theory and Practice of Psychological Assessment and Intervention (10 credit points) and the Research Methods Seminar (20 credit points).

Major - Geography and Urban Studies

M1019.1

Students in this major examine the geography of contemporary Australian cities and regions. Geography is the integrated study of people, places and environments. The cutting edge interests of today's Geographers include post-colonialism, the emergence of global information economies, indigenous issues, class and cultural disparities, population movement, sexuality and space, and the global diffusion of popular culture. Urban Studies is a newer discipline focused on social justice within the city, through its critical assessments of peoples' access to scarce urban resources, such as housing, transport, education and employment. The political, economic, and cultural forces that shape cities and urban policy are the key concerns of the Urban Studies curriculum. These applied interests in urban well-being and city structure are the intellectual basis for the Urban Planning profession. The Geography and Urban Studies major is a compulsory component of the University's accredited Planning course.

Major - Peace and Development Studies

M1020.1

The Peace and Development Studies major is concerned with methods for promoting peace, human rights and sustainability. It involves a critical analysis of inequalities of power and opportunity that lead to international and local conflict, social dislocation and environmental degradation. Students will examine the structural causes of racist and gendered violence, environmental crises, forced migration, poverty, resource conflict, and inter-generational inequity. The inter-related network of solutions includes empowerment and self-determination, sustainable living, constructive development, peace making and peace building. These require understanding of the theories and method for identifying, measuring and resolving conflict and environmental degradation. The assumptions and failings of traditional development practice are critically assessed. Students will engage social theory within an interdisciplinary and applied framework, at local, national and international levels. At the same time heritage places have become significant tourist destinations and so in a world of flows and networks, the heritage-tourism relationship is a critical one. In the 21st century it is impossible to disentangle the two. This major introduces contemporary heritage issues and provides an in-depth understanding of tourism as a social phenomenon. It enables a critical examination of the relationship between heritage and tourism in number of settings within Australia (including Indigenous Australia) and internationally. Graduates with a heritage and tourism major can contemplate careers within a diverse range of government, non-government organization and businesses that require understanding, insight and skills related to heritage and tourism.

Major - History and Political Thought

M1033.1

Since the revival of humanist studies in Renaissance Europe in the 15th century, universities have placed history and political thought at the heart of studies in the humanities. Through study of the political thought and social, political and cultural history of Australian, Asian and European societies, students gain knowledge and critical skills relevant to a variety of careers in education, government and non-governmental organizations. Study of the writings of political thinkers from ancient Greece and Rome, such as Plato and Cicero, and the early modern period, such as Hobbes and Machiavelli, to noted 19th century figures, such as Hegel and Marx, prepare students to engage with contemporary issues of governance, such as sovereignty, power, opportunity, property, civic freedom and social justice.

Sub-major - Geography and Urban Studies*SM1027.1

Students in this Sub-major examine the geography of contemporary Australian cities and regions. Geography is the integrated study of people, places and environments. The cutting edge interests of today's Geographers include post-colonialism, the emergence of global information economies, indigenous issues, class and cultural disparities, population movement, sexuality and space, and the global diffusion of popular culture. Urban Studies is a newer discipline focused on social justice within the city, through its critical assessments of peoples' access to scarce urban resources, such as housing, transport, education and employment. The political, economic, and cultural forces that shape cities and urban policy are the key concerns of the Urban Studies curriculum. These applied interests in urban well-being and city structure are the intellectual basis for the Urban Planning profession. The Geography and Urban Studies Sub-major is a compulsory component of the University's accredited Planning course.

Sub-major - Heritage and Tourism

SM1030.1

In a highly mobile world (migration, tourism, media and communications, travel and transport) and in contemporary life where the preservation of historical and natural environments present as one of the major challenges facing all societies, heritage has become a touchstone for social and cultural identity, our understanding of modernity, peace and development, our senses of citizenship, custodianship and community. At the same time heritage places have become significant tourist destinations and so in a world of flows and networks, the heritage-tourism relationship is a critical one. In the 21st century it is impossible to disentangle the two. This sub-major introduces contemporary heritage issues and provides an in-depth understanding of tourism as a social phenomenon. It enables a critical examination of the relationship between heritage and tourism in number of settings within Australia (including Indigenous Australia) and internationally. Graduates with a heritage and tourism major can contemplate careers within a diverse range of government, non-government organization and businesses that require understanding, insight and skills related to heritage and tourism.

Sub-major - History and Political Thought

SM1041.1

Since the revival of humanist studies in Renaissance Europe in the 15th century, universities have placed history and political thought at the heart of studies in the humanities. Through study of the political thought and social, political and cultural history of Australian, Asian and European societies, students gain knowledge and critical skills relevant to a variety of careers in education, government and non-governmental organizations. Study of the writings of political thinkers from ancient Greece and Rome, such as Plato and Cicero, and the early modern period, such as Hobbes and Machiavelli, to noted 19th century figures, such as Hegel and Marx, prepare students to engage with contemporary issues of governance, such as sovereignty, power, opportunity, property, civic freedom and social justice.

In the 1960s and 70s it was common for social and cultural theorists to talk about the death of God and the eclipse of religion. In social terms at least, this prediction has proved to be wildly inaccurate. Never has religion been so politically and culturally relevant. This unit is the compulsory Level 100 unit for the major Religion, Anthropology and Philosophy. It provides an introduction to some of the key issues and concepts in philosophical and anthropological approaches to the study of religion. Specifically, it employs cultural anthropology and philosophy to engage in an examination of a number of foundational ideas for this major, including reason, religion, knowledge, ethics, and ritual.

101688.2 Anthropology of Religion

Credit Points 10 Level 3

By looking at culture in a cross-cultural perspective, anthropology assists us in relativising our own values and worldview. When we understand the logic of the other, we perform a double movement: we transform the exotic into familiar and vice versa. With religion taking a centre stage in world order, the anthropological perspective can give us an understanding 'from within' and help us overcome prejudice and fear. In this unit we will discuss topics such as magic, witchcraft, attitudes toward the body, healing, shamanism, and spirit possession. We will also address religion in complex societies by exploring the issue of secularisation and re-enchantment of the world. Finally, we will cover the globalisation of religious practices and beliefs.

In recent years traditional understandings of 'childhood' and the 'universal child' have been increasingly challenged by new discourses associated with reconceptualisation of childhood. These discourses reinforce the image of the child as strong and capable and highlight the multiplicity of children's experiences of childhood. Within this new sociology of childhood, the image of the child and children's rights are receiving a greater focus than ever before. This unit explores the historical and current influences on childhood and the social constructions of family and childhoods. Students will investigate the multiplicity of experiences of childhood, different images of childhood and how conceptions of childhood impact on the education and care of children's 'rights'. Within this context, understanding how children's voices, agency and power are most often 'othered' and eclipsed by those of adults is crucial to professionals working with children and young people.

As such, it reveals new spheres of common interests that transcend states' interests. This development opens the way for a more prominent role in the system for international law, formal regimes, and multilateral intergovernmental organisations. This system of formal and informal institutions and rules has come to be known as a system of global governance.

Legislation requires the preservation of natural, built and movable heritage, but choices about what to keep often produce controversy and reveal starkly varying opinions. Physical deterioration can mean that some things can not be kept. The historian's investigation of places and objects is an important part of the assessment process and the evaluation of what might be kept and why. Parramatta has a rich selection of heritage places. How does heritage fit in a modern CBD? Site visits around the city will identify archaeological and architectural heritage to promote discussions, visits to nearby museums will put these places in context and historical research will unravel their meanings.

Credit Points 10 Level 1

Special Requirements

Students must be enrolled in course 1689 - Bachelor of Community and Social Development

The unit, Practical Literacy / Communication Skills, introduces students to the very real link between clear communication and literacy. Not only does this unit lift the lid on how we send and receive messages, and encode ideas contained within those messages, but it also shows that clearly composed messages can be decoded and understood by the receiver. We also consider the effect of 'noise' and 'ideological noise' upon clear communication. Knowing the rules of how we clearly encode and decode messages is the practical business of literacy, sentence construction, syntax, grammar and punctuation. Bringing communication theory together with literacy demonstrates the practical value of grammar and punctuation and offers students a good reason to master these skills. By introducing students to the art of clear communication, and offering practical examples and exercises designed to enhance the student's literacy, this unit offers graduates a real way of increasing the potency of their voices.
