CART 1009 Exploring the Creative Industries (WSTC) (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart1009/>)

Careers in the Creative Industries are on the rise. They're innovation-led, mobile, global and adaptable. In the short-term success can be a matter of luck but a long-term career requires tactics, talent, and savvy business acumen. In this hands-on subject we'll introduce you to some of the key opportunities in the Creative Industries in fields as diverse as Communication, Media, Music, Design, Writing and associated aspects of Intellectual Property Law and Entrepreneurship. We'll look at the Creative Industries from historical and contemporary perspectives and hear from industry contributors working in the field right now. You'll be introduced to 'future of work' skillsets, including entrepreneurship, leadership, collaboration, and communication capabilities, and you'll learn how to situate your own creative knowledge within them. Available to students from all disciplines, this subject will suit you if you're passionate about taking your creative career to the next level.

CART 3001 Modernism (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart3001/>) Legacy Code: 101033

This subject aims to introduce students to important works of literature from the earlier part of the 20th century. Throughout the course we will be concentrating on literature but will make reference to other art forms (in particular the visual arts) to provide the intellectual context necessary to understanding the ideas of the period. There will be a close study of a small number of important novels or works of poetry from the period, with a close consideration of techniques of writing and the way these techniques contribute to an understanding of the themes in the works.

CART 3002 Communication, Creative Industries, and Screen Media Study Tours (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart3002/>)

This subject provides students with opportunities to engage in immersive, cross-cultural learning experiences outside the traditional classroom environment. It is designed particularly for students who enrol in short term study tours hosted by academics across the Communication, Creative Industries, and Screen Media programs. Study tours offer an opportunity to spend up to four weeks off campus exchanging knowledge with local communities, and participating in industry workshops, lectures, and cultural activities. Successful completion of a study tour will result in broadened global perspectives and better preparedness for a career in an interconnected, agile world.

CART 6001 Writers at Work (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart6001/>)

This subject introduces students to Australian writers currently at work in the industry. How do Australian writers juggle the business and creative aspects of writing? Where do they publish, what forms do their creative practices take, and how do they survive financially? The classes will be a mixture of guest lectures and interviews in which writers, editors and agents share their experience of writing industries. Students will be encouraged to actively engage with industry professionals, and to engage critically with the work of significant Australian writers.

CART 6002 Reading and Writing Australia (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart6002/>)

This subject will be a course of reading, taking in a variety of Australian narratives across the country's long cultural history. Students will look at art, oral storytelling, film, fiction, poetry and non-fiction, and use these texts as a jumping-off point or inspiration for their own work, simultaneously finding themselves in and creating new spaces in Australian narrative. The subject will consider Indigenous storytelling, urban and regional literatures, colonial legacies and how these shape aesthetics and narratives of belonging. Does Australia have a national literature, and if so, what does it mean to writers and readers in the 21st century?

CART 6003 Research Methods in the Creative Arts (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart6003/>)

This subject investigates conceptual, theoretical and practice-based models used in Creative Arts Research. It introduces students to a variety of important methodologies, including empiricism, experimentation, practice-based research, performativity-as-method, and narrative inquiry. It also focuses on writing as a creative praxis that has an important relationship to all the creative arts. Methodologies will be explored through the analysis of various theoretical and conceptual models that are produced through and applied in creative work. The subject will include the production of a creative work, and a variety of strategies for analysing and documenting this and other creative work, including observation, participation, reflection, contextualisation and representation. The subject also examines the relationships between theory and practice, and it will look at the conditions under which creative arts research is produced, exploring its meanings, effects and affects. The subject is suitable for academic research students who intend to include some non-traditional research outcomes in their work.

CART 6004 Creative Writing Practice (20 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart6004/>)

This subject consolidates the student's journey towards producing an extended creative work in Year 2 for the Masters Project. Students are guided in responding to writing exercises set by their tutor and are given feedback on their writing practice. They explore and experiment within different forms and genres, including genres of fiction (such as the short story, the novel, YA fiction and auto-fiction), non-fiction (including the personal essay, environmental writing, memoir and the art of criticism) and poetry (including experimental narrative). This subject progresses towards writing and workshopping a lengthier creative piece, which will form part of the student's final assessment.

CART 6005 Creative Methods in Research (20 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart6005/>)

What is practice-led research, and how do its methods differ from more traditional research approaches? This subject familiarises students with methods of pursuing and presenting practice-led research across the disciplines of literary studies and creative writing. Working with experienced authors and researchers, students will have the opportunity to explore these methods in their own research or creative practice. The subject includes specific writing exercises that cover a range of practice-led research skills, such as using research databases, critical writing, and building research arguments using creative texts. Students will be guided to develop the skills needed to undertake their extended Masters Project.

CART 6007 Writing and Genre (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart6007/>)

In this subject, students engage with the conventions of genre writing, including (but not limited to) crime, fantasy, romance, historical and/or speculative fiction. Students will study a range of genre texts as a jumping-off point for their own work, gaining experience in the conventions of different genres as a pathway to producing a longer work in a chosen genre and form. The class includes collective workshopping and discussion with peers about drafts of written work. Students' work for final assessments will demonstrate both an understanding of the conventions of a chosen genre and a willingness to challenge and extend them.

CART 7013 Masters Project (40 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart7013/>) Legacy Code: 102255

The Masters Project is the culmination of the Master of Arts in Literature and Creative Writing. Students will build up to being able to complete a long written project. For many students this will be a creative project (creative writing, or related media including music). This involves both the creative work (normally 11,000 words) along with an 'exegesis' that offers a critical overview of the ideas within it (4,000 words). Other students might choose to write a long critical essay in literary studies (15,000 words). There is no class work; rather, students work individually with a supervisor with significant expertise in the area in researching and writing their Project.

CART 7018 Writing Practice and Tradition (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart7018/>) Legacy Code: 102498

This subject will consider the nature of writing in terms of both writing and editorial practice. It will involve the analysis of major works by writers (both of fiction and non-fiction) within particular traditions and communities and reflect on the themes of these works and the processes through which they emerge. It will explore the power of the word to shape our understanding of the world. This reflection will be both theoretical and practical.

CART 7019 Writing Process (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart7019/>) Legacy Code: 102499

In Quarter 4 2023, this subject is replaced by CART 6006 - Creative Non-Fiction. This subject will consider elements of the physical world around us: the phenomena we inhabit which form our sense of self. Focusing on literature and how meaning is created in literary form the subject will consider the interaction between the created world and the real world. It will focus on method and process in writing. In doing this it will engage with ideas from a number of areas, including science, philosophy, and literary theory in considering particular aspects of both our interaction with world, and how it shapes us, and the manner in which art shapes and forces itself upon the world. A specific theme related to the process of creation in art will be addressed.

CART 7020 Writing and Form (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/cart7020/>) Legacy Code: 102500

In Quarter 2, 2023 this subject replaced by CART 6001 - Writers at Work. Literature has always involved playing with language and shaping words into specific forms. The European avant-gardes of the 1910s, 20s and 30s swept aside traditional forms and valued kinds of playing that many cultural institutions and aesthetic authorities of the times regarded as childish. This unit will examine the interactions of play and form in experimental writing. Taking the manifesto as a means for outlining the scope and parameters of experimentation, it will explore a variety of calls-to-action regarding writing and form, and reactions to these in a range of literary forms including short fiction, poetry, and the essay.
