Description The Pancasila subject equips students with essential guidelines for studying and analysing state and national issues through the lens of Pancasila values, the foundational philosophy of the Republic of Indonesia. During the introductory session, students will explore the lives of key national figures from the independence movement, seeking examples that embody Pancasila values. Subsequently, students will examine some real-world applications of Pancasila values by looking into contemporary state issues. By engaging in discussions and analyses focusing on national values and Pancasila, students are encouraged to foster a positive attitude towards Pancasila as the cornerstone of the state and the guiding ideology of the Indonesian nation.
